Will Take Bids In May On Elevating Rt.45 Over R.I.

Bids are to be taken in May on completion of the change in U.S. 45 from 183d St. to 191st and then in June or July there will be bids on the cloverleaf for the interchange of U.S. 45 with I-80.

Information to this effect was forthcoming this week from the Illinois highway department's district office at Elgin.

Weather, of course, will play a major part in how long it will take to complete the projects.

When the U.S. 45 project is finished the highway will be carried over the Rock Island Lines right-of-way and into 191st St. A big portion of the work was done in conjunction with the building of I-80 last fall. But there was no time to complete it then. Instead of going on straight to reach 191st it was curved to pass under the railroad tracks.

This underpass, which has been in use since U.S. 45 was built, has frequently blocked traffic in bad weather. Heavy snows have sometimes barred travel at that point for several days and the same is true when there are hard rains. There have been occasions when the water has been several feet deep in the underpass, making it impossible for cars or trucks to get thru.

While no serious accidents have been reported on the present course of U.S. 45 between 183d and 191st it is somewhat hazardous at night because of the curves.

Completion of the interchange with I-80 is being looked forward to by residents of the area. Officials of the village of Orland Park are especially interested in the project as it will be of benefit to the budding industrial section there as well as to commercial houses and individual motorists.

To gain access to I-80 now Orland Park residents have to pick it up at Harlem Av. in Tinley Park or west of New Lenox on U.S. 30.

Mokena residents who use I-80 to travel west use the interchange at New Lenox. If they are going east they use the interchange at Tinley Park.

Caterpillar workers who live in the Tinley, Mokena, Frankfort or New Lenox areas find that I-80 cuts considerable time in going to and from the plant which is located southwest of Joliet on U.S. 6. I-80 will also give ready access to the new Caterpillar plant that is to be built on the west side of Joliet off McDonough St. in the vicinity of Larkin Rd.

Mokena Kindergarten Gets Battery Salute

Several weeks ago Mokena youngsters in the kindergarten classes taught by Mrs. Carmen Windle adopted her brother, PFC Roy L. White and 49 of his buddies in Battery B, 2d Bn. 4th Artillery in Vietnam and sent them valentines, book-marks and stationery packages.

This week the class received a letter.

"Dear Boys and Girls," the letter runs. "We the soldiers of Battery B, stationed at Bien Phuc, South Vietnam, wish to thank you for the package you so thoughtfully sent us.

"We especially enjoyed the cookies and the colorful valentines. The packages of writing paper, envelopes and pens were deeply appreciated. I speak for everyone in the battery when I say thank you.

"Thank you for your kindness and generosity. Your efforts have helped keep our spirits up and helped confirm our belief that what we are doing here is just and right.

"Knowing that we have your support will keep us strong. We are proud to call you and the many parents and teachers who helped you "Americans" in every sense of the word.

"Kindergarten Sections A and C: We of Battery B salute you!"

III. Bell Has Big Plans For Expansion This Year

With expected growth of its services plus mounting labor and material costs, Illinois Bell Telephone estimates that its record-breaking capital expenditures for 1968 will be about $270 million, according to the company's annual report, released today.

Capital expenditures for 1967 were $250 million, 13.5 per cent above 1966 and were at an all-time high for the third year in a row.

President James W. Cook says, "We continued to be a financially healthy company in 1967, recording gains in telephones, local and long distance calling, and revenues. But gains lagged substantially behind those of a record 1966."

Cook lists a number of variables in the economic picture for 1968 and reports that "the outlook is far from clear." He adds, "For our part, we expect further gains in telephones and calling but the economy is so beset with uncertainties that predictions as to the rate of gain in 1968 are a cautious undertaking at best."

In his message to share owners, Cook discusses three principal developments -- the growing scope of the social responsibility of business, the increase of competition within the communications industry and the need for new concepts of regulation.

"Competition in the field of communications is broadening quite significantly," Cook says. "Let me hasten to add that Illinois Bell and its Bell System partners are not trying to eliminate competition. On the contrary we believe that the more opportunity other people have to enhance the usefulness of communications, the better. Our principal concern is assuring that quality and reliability of the network be maintained at the highest possible level for all who use it..."

"In the light of today's technology, competition and community needs," he summarizes, "it seems almost self-evident that regulated industry needs the freedom to serve completely and well. Illinois Bell has accepted its full responsibility to all the publics it serves - customers, share owners and employees. It is confident it will be encouraged to discharge these responsibilities to the betterment of the communities in which it operates."

By the end of 1967, there were 5,446,000 Illinois Bell telephones in service -- representing an increase of 202,000 (about 4 per cent) over the year-end total for 1966. This increase, however, was below that of the record - breaking year of 1966 when 251,000 phones were added.

Increases in telephone calling also continued during 1967, the report says. More than 23.8 million calls were handled on an average weekday, up 6.9 per cent over 1966. The percentage increase in long distance calling over 1966 was 8.4 per cent. The year's total was 284.4 million conversations.

The year also was a milestone one for the company with the completion of a 45-year project -- the changing of all phones to dial operation. Last of the offices to be converted were those serving customers in the Cairo and Edgerton - Illinois City areas.

Annual savings of more than $40 million have been made available to Illinois customers through rate reductions and new service offerings since 1961, according to the report. Seven million of this total, it says, resulted from interstate long distance reductions introduced Nov. 1, 1967 in compliance with a $100 million rate reduction order of the Federal Communications Commission.

The report also details the impact of Bell's unique "vital partnership" -- the AT&T Company, Illinois Bell, Western Electric Company and Bell Telephone Laboratories on the economy of the State. The report emphasized that Illinois "is the only state which provides a home base for major operations of all Bell Systems units. . . . The vigorous economic climate of Illinois merits this full - scale Bell System investment," the report adds. For example, Western Electric's payroll and purchases from 4,500 local suppliers topped $345 million in Illinois during 1966 (most recent year in which figures are available).

As previously reported, (Jan. 26), total operating revenues for the year were $819,259,000, a gain of 7.3 per cent over 1966. Operating expenses and taxes were $674,166,000 or 8.5 per cent more than the previous year. Interest charges were $20,158,000.

After interest, net income was $135,812,000 - $129,334,000 from operations and $6,458,000 from sale of an investment. Early in the year, the company disposed of its holdings in the DeKalb-Ogle Telephone Company. It accepted an offer of the Continental Telephone Company to exchange its DeKalb-Ogle shares for Continental Telephone shares, which were sold for approximately $10 million.

Earnings per share were $2.73 (13 cents of this from the sale of the DeKalb-Ogle investment), as compared with the 1966 average of $2.70.

Will Discuss Film As Art Medium At Sandburg High

One of the hottest items in the artist's media bag will be brought to Carl Sandburg High School March 19 when Jack C. Ellis, professor of film at Northwestern University, will give a free lecture-demonstration to the public on "Film and the Other Arts."

He plans to talk for about an hour and will show a 30-minute film afterwards. Ellis has been professor of film at Northwestern for 12 years and teaches courses in film history, criticism, and production. Previously, he worked in film promotion, production, and distribution. His graduate study was completed at the University of Chicago and Columbia University.

The lecture will last from 8 until 9:30 p.m. and will be held in the Little Theatre at Sandburg High, 133rd and LaGrange Road, Orland Park.

Sandburg art department head, Martin Suchor, said that he hopes some of the excitement of film making will be spread to students and parents alike. "We've been making films, mostly short animated experimental color movies, for at least four years now," he said. "But many high school art students are afraid to work with film when offered the choice of expressing themselves artistically by doing either a painting or four minutes of film."

Sandburg art teacher Miss Claudette Bobay's classes are now working on a film that will culminate an art unit which earlier involved literature, painting, and sculpture. A unit on film is included in Art I classes at Sandburg, Suchor said.

Ellis believes that Northwestern, like many universities, is experiencing an enormous upsurge of interest in film on the part of its students. Majors in many departments -- music, journalism, advertising literature -- as well as those within the School of Speech, in which Northwestern's film program is located, have begun to take film courses or have become active in extracurricular film activities.

They explain generally that they have come to realize that film is important to them for reasons of personal enrichment and career planning.

The word is out among high school and college students -- "film is in." Bard Darrach summed up the new attitude in "Time": "In the decade since Hollywood became unstuck and television became the reigning medium of mass entertainment, the movies have suddenly and powerfully emerged as a new and brilliant international art, indeed as perhaps the central and characteristic art of the age."

The old-time habitual moviegoer has given way to the selective moviegoer who does some thinking both before and after the films he sees. Stanley Kauffmann phrased it neatly: "The film in this country is possibly the one art form that is wanted."

"To have great poets there must be a great audience," Walt Whitman said. Great audiences for any art form are not born; they are made. They are created by an exposure to and analysis of excellence within the medium. The schools have traditionally trained audience taste in literature, drama, and the other arts. Many teachers want their students to experience great films in the same way that they want them to read good books, see great plays, and appreciate great painting and music.

The lecture series is sponsored by the Illinois Arts Council. An art critic from the Chicago Daily News will complete the art lecture series when he appears at Sandburg in May.

Add 2 Teachers To 157-C Tenure List

Two teachers in the Frankfort Grade School system have been placed under tenure by the board, Wayne Hendricks, an 8th grade teacher, and Joseph Boylan, who teaches 7th grade.

When a teacher has taught satisfactorily in a school system for three years he is placed under tenure, which means that they cannot be discharged except on a very serious charge.

Contracts were given to Robert Schmitz, 4th grade, and Kenneth Reiss, 7th grade. Mrs. Sharon Stupp has been hired for second grade level for the 1968-69 school year. She has taught for three years at Blue Island. Mrs. Stupp is a graduate of Millikin University.

The board also approved the architects' contract for the safety survey work which must be started this summer. Norton and Hall are the architects. A state law requires that schools must have certain safety features.

The next regular meeting of the Frankfort Grade board will be held April 1.

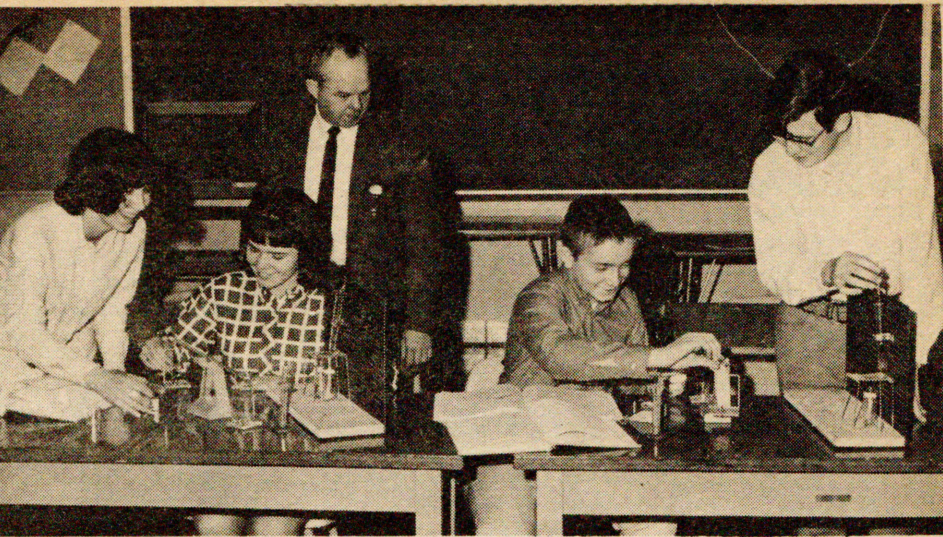

The terms of two members of the board expire this spring. The school election will be held April 9. On April 22 the Frankfort board will organize for the coming year. These meetings will be held in the Frankfort School Library at 7:30 p.m.

At the March meeting the board discussed a science program for the upper grades. Also discussed were needs for music, physical education, library and storage space.

Disaster Alert Program Progresses

Congressman Ed Derwinski (R-4th) has reported that the U.S. Department of Commerce is steadily implementing the Illinois portion of a Nationwide Natural Disaster Warning System (NADWARN).

"The effective implementation and coordination

TAKING PART in a new science course being taught at Lincoln-Way High School this year is left to right: Betty Van Iten, Bonnie Bolker, Elon Van Alwin, science teacher, Larry Simms, and Don Melcher.

The number of students who take the required one year of science number 380 and 120 of these were selected for the new course. They were selected for their ability to learn to determine and test scientific theories for themselves instead of being expected to memorize what's in a book or teacher's lecture.

Set March 20 As Date For Spring Roundup

Wednesday, March 20, will be a pre-registration and Roundup day for all children who will be entering school next fall for the first time. Roundup will be held at the Orland Center School's multi-purpose room at 1:30 p.m.

To enter kindergarten, a child must have reached his 5th birthday by December 1, 1968. For entrance into first grade, a child must have reached his 6th birthday by December 1, 1968. Only new first grade students need to pre-register for school next fall - students who are presently enrolled in our kindergarten need not repeat physical and dental exams. The physical and dental examinations required by law have been broadened this year to include immunization inoculations as a part of the physical examination for kindergarten, first, and fifth grade students.

A birth certificate is also required for each child at the time of registration.

School officials point out that pre-registration is very important in order to insure adequate space for your child. Parents unable to attend this Roundup on March 20 should obtain physical and dental forms from the school as early as possible by calling Mrs. Bannes, Orland Park School, 349-0051; or Mrs. Boro-wiak, Orland Center School, 349-0053.

Await Action On Park Petitions

It was expected that the petitions asking establishment of a New Lenox park district would be filed in circuit court this week or next with a request that a hearing date be set.

Wayne Johnson, who serves the New Lenox board as village attorney, prepared the petitions. The proposed district would include all of New Lenox Township not now included in a park district. Two such districts now take a bite of New Lenox -- Mokena on the east and Joliet on the west.

At such hearings the court passes upon the sufficiency of the petitions -- whether they are properly drawn and signed -- and any objections that may arise from some property owner on the edge that wants out. Then if the petitions are approved the court sets a date for a referendum in which the people of the proposed district can decide the question. At the same time that the referendum is ordered the court would also set up an election of park commissioners.

Orland Assessments Show Gain Of 4.13%

The total of real estate assessments in Orland township in southwestern Cook county showed an increase of 4.13 per cent this year as compared with last year. Assessor P.J. Cullerton reported yesterday.

"Orland township is predominantly a residential area" explained Cullerton, "and the assessment increase was the result largely of new construction being added to the assessment rolls."

"Such an increase in the assessment total has a definite beneficial effect for owners of existing homes and other properties," Cullerton pointed out.

"An increase in the total assessment provides a larger overall base for levying taxes for paying the costs of schools and other local governments," he explained. "This larger taxation base has the effect of holding down tax bills on the existing properties."

The new 1967 real estate assessment total for Orland township is $20,482,283, which is $814,243 higher than the total of $19,668,040 for last year.

The assessment of buildings and other property improvements increased $361,714 to a 1967 total of $13,539,512 from $13,177,798 a year ago. The land assessment total rose $452,529 to $6,942,771 from $6,490,242.

Orland township, which covers an area of 36 square miles, is bounded on the north by 135th street, on the south by 183rd St., on the east by Harlem Ave. and on the west by the Will-Cook county line.

GOV. KERNER accepts a "premier" copy of the Illinois Sesquicentennial "Heirloom Cookbook" from William J. Crowley, (l), executive vice president of NI-gas. The 82-page, four-color booklet combines historical information and recipes and is the official Sesquicentennial cookbook. The cookbook dramatizes the culinary heritages and rituals of Indian, French, German, Dutch, Irish and other Illinois residents right up to the jet age. NI-Gas produced the Heirloom cookbook as its contribution to the year-long observance of "150 Years of the Good Life in Illinois." It is not anticipated that many readers of the cookbook will use its instructions to roast larks or pickle buffalo ears - these have been included to tell the culinary history of the state - but there are many more recipes that modern-day Illinois homemakers should find useful.

Apply For Medical Insurance

People already 65 or older who do not have the medical insurance may enroll thru April 1, 1968. Some of these people may have received an application blank through the mail on which they would indicate whether or not they want the supplementary coverage under social security.

A person will get the medical insurance only if he signs up for it. If a person signs up for medical insurance, it will help pay the following services: Physicians and surgeons services in the hospital, doctors office, at home or elsewhere; up to 100 home health visits each year by visiting nurses, and other health workers from a qualified health agency; a number of other medical and health services prescribed by the doctor and rental or purchase of such as hospital beds for use in the home.

If a person signs up by April 1, 1968, their coverage will begin July 1, 1968. Those now enrolling, who for a year or longer had been eligible but had not signed up, will pay $4.40 premium each month. For example, J.J. was 65 in February, 1965. During the last enrollment period, which ended May 31, 1966, he failed to enroll. On February 16 he says "yes" he wants the medical insurance. He will be eligible and will start paying premiums of $4.40 a month beginning July 1, 1968.

For those persons who enrolled timely the premium will be $4 a month, matched dollar for dollar by the Government. This will go into effect in April, 1968 and will remain at this rate until June 30, 1969. A person who has not enrolled for medical insurance will have an opportunity to enroll the first 3 months of any year, provided this begins within three years after he had the first opportunity to enroll.

If you or anyone in your family have questions about the medical insurance and enrolling, call 727-5101, ext. 215.

Here's A Switch-Raze Buildings To Get Land

Thruout the nation about a million acres of farmlands are daily being turned into housing developments, factories, shopping centers and superhighways. However, the process is being reversed at Manteno State Hospital's four farms where buildings are being demolished and ground cleared will result in about 20 more acres of farmland.

Piles of rubble are now all that is left of buildings at two of the hospital's four farms. Only four buildings will remain at the other two farms when the demolition is complete and the rubble is hauled away.

The Cuning Construction Co. of Wilmington, which recently received the contract for demolition of these farm buildings with its low bid of $24,200, is nearly finished with this work.

Reason for the demolition is that the farm houses were destroyed because they were not economically repairable, hospital authorities said, adding that the rest of the farm buildings including the many barns, silos, milk sheds and slaughter houses, were demolished because they were no longer of any use to the hospital which went out of the farming business several years ago.

The 810 acres of farmland are now leased to farmers in the area who have been raising corn on them. Once the rubble is cleared away, the extra 20 acres of land are also expected to be leased.

Only four buildings, all in good condition, will be left. These are Farm 1's brick house (its two apartments house the hospital's chief pharmacist and sanitary engineer and their families) and adjacent garage and a large cattle shelter to be used to store hospital property. Also saved, and used to store seasonal outdoor equipment such as snow plows in summer and lawn mowers in winter, is the large tool shed at Farm 2.

The farm house at Farm 3, now demolished, was of special historic value. It was built during 1868 - 69 and lived in by Oliver W. Barnard, a farmer, stockman, author and poet who arrived in 1856. He farmed Section 26, the land the hospital and Farm 3 no occupies, probably as a tenant. By 1866 he had bought 320 acres of it from the Big Four Railroad and 160 acres of Section 25 from other owners.

Wrestling Tournament Starts Today At School

Mrs. Edward Hovi
Telephone: 479-5740

The school basketball team placed fourth in the South Cook County Basketball tournament when it was held two weeks ago at the Conrady School on 95th Street.

The school is also entering a wrestling tournament to begin March 14, and continue through the week end. It will begin at 7:00 p.m. It will include boys from both public and parochial schools in the Lincoln-Way area from fifth grade through eighth grade. The boys will be matched by weight groups and not by age groups to keep the matches more even.

The schools financial condition is holding well with the distribution of the tax monies to be coming up shortly.

It is now time to give some consideration to the effect of the newly opened

I-80 highway on our school district. If there is a building boom, as some expect, what will the alternatives be for the district? An influx of students through new construction could mean a dire need for additional classrooms which are rapidly becoming filled now. Should the district look into the advisability of mobile classrooms on a rental basis as an alternative? This would also bring to this foreground the need for more storage space more gym facilities and more toilet facilities.

Our educational needs could also be changed by the location of the third international airport, some locations of which would effect our community. Think now before the rush.

The educational fund is still in good shape, due largely to the cooperation of the teachers. They have made a large effort to pool their resources on hand so that there is no wasting of materials.

There was a meeting of the Lincoln-Way area principals. Present at the meeting were both public and parochial representatives. Mr. Avila, our superintendent, has been chosen as chairman of the principals.

There were discussions at the meeting of the problems and special education needs of the area.

The boys of St. Mary's School are also entered in the Lincoln-Way area wrestling tournament. Mr. Richard Mansell has been the wrestling coach at St. Marys.

The winners of the spelling contest in St. Mary's school were Anna Marie White and John Cumbee. They will now go on to the regional spelling contest.

The beginning of girl scout week was ushered in by a program at the Arbury Hills School. Represented in the program were both brownie troops, both junior troops, and the cadette troop.

There was an overflow crowd of parents present while the girls went through their skits and songs to celebrate the beginning of girl scout week.

You can thank your representatives of each troop for their work with the girls all year. The troops are headed by: brownie troop 332; Shirley Boothe and Leann Blecha, brownie troop 334; Charlene Camp and Judy Brezen, junior troop 103; Lorraine Thompson, Sylvia and Barbara Zmolek, junior troop 289; Evelyn King, Faye Erkman and Catherine Ott, and the cadette troop 336 with Barbara Markowski. The program chairman was Alice Kilgore and the accompanist was Ardell Borchert. Thanks from all to all.

Registration for day camp to be held at Van Horn Woods from July 15 thru July 19 must be turned in no later than March 25. Registration fee is $5.00. Make checks payable to Thelma Snow. The registration fee includes transportation and insurance. There will be a registered nurse on duty at all times and a doctor available if needed.

The First Nighters held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Liz Horn, last Thursday evening, March 7.

The winner of the hostesses prize was Mrs. Marie Hovi, and the April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Shirley Osuch on Poplar Street, on Thursday evening, April 4, beginning at 8:00 P.M.

The Summit Hill Parent-Teacher group will hold their March meeting at the school tonight, Thursday, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Following the business meeting Mr. Mackay, the Lincoln-Way area school psychologist will give a talk on the progress of the special education program. This should prove to be an interesting evening, and everyone should try to attend.

The last day for filing a petition for the school board for the April election is March 23 at the school.

health laws, there will be no one admitted to the kindergarten, first grade, or fifth grade without a completed medical and dental records beginning with the fall semester. If you have any religious objections to this, you must present a written statement from the head of your religious congregation.

There are still a few youngsters who have not turned in the completed form passed out recently. It is important that this be done immediately.

The teachers attended a Book Fair held recently at the Pershing School in Joliet. It was geared to the educators level, and saw many new books being purchased by the staff.

The kindergarten classes are now getting their beginnings in reading, phonics, and math. The children will be allowed to bring their reading book home for one night to show their parents and then return it.

Open One-Stop Service Center For Vietnam Vets

The experiment of a one-stop service center for Vietnam has begun in Chicago. It is a high-priority project for America's 10 largest cities by direction of President Johnson.

Not only will the U.S. Veterans Assistance Center, as it is called, be geared to provide "instant" assistance to veterans in obtaining some half-hundred direct benefits and services provided by law, but it will also offer "personalized" help to ex-servicemen and their families. Attention will be given to all areas, federal, state and local, in helping the veteran and his family completely and profitably adjust to civilian life.

This one-stop office, created by Executive Order, was officially opened Feb. 23, at 2030 West Taylor St. "This is not a VA project," explained John B. Naser, manager of VA's Regional Office at the same location. "It is a multi-agency project designed to help our new veterans with their specific problems. There will naturally be emphasis on the educationally disadvantaged since their problems are demanding."

"The Center, manned by representatives of three federal and two state agencies, is designed to streamline the veteran's initial problem of finding the right agency geared to solve his particular case."

lar case.

"If experts manning the Center cannot provide this personalized service, they will have direct lines to the agency most concerned. Immediate appointments will be made. All veterans organizations have offices near the Center. They also will help."

Agencies most concerned with veterans affairs were listed by Naser as the Veterans Administration, the Federal Civil Service Commission, the U.S. Reemployment Service of the Department of Labor, the Illinois Veterans Commission and the Illinois State Employment Service. All these will have full-time representatives on hand. Other agencies will have liaison personnel or direct lines for service and consultation. Responsibilities of the various agencies include:

...Veterans Administration. For all statutory benefits such as compensation and pension, medical care and hospitalization of the veteran himself (not his family), education and training benefits, counseling, home loans, death benefits and various programs for specialized groups.

...Civil Service. For vacancy lists in all federal positions and their requirements, particularly in GSA grades 1 to 5, where by presidential order, a veteran has preferential rights. Information will be available on all forms of civil service employment. Tests will be given or arranged.

...Federal-State Employment. The Illinois State Employment Service will arrange testing and counseling to assist the veteran in bettering himself in his present job or in obtaining one. For veterans seeking to return to their old jobs, advice and assistance will be available from a representative of the U.S. Reemployment Service, Department of Labor. This representative also will advise employers on their responsibilities in reemployment of veterans.

...Health, Education and Welfare. For guaranteed educational loans, particularly for married veterans.

...Small Business Administration. For loans to veterans in business for themselves. Provides managerial counseling and assistance to veterans on self-employment. Provides loans for purchase of equipment necessary to such self-employment ventures.

...Illinois Veterans Commission. A counselor will be on hand to assist veterans in obtaining state benefits, particularly the state bonus.

The Center is intended for Vietnam veterans, Naser stressed. Ex-servicemen from prior periods will find the VA Contact Office available on the same floor. The VA manager explained:

"The Vietnam returnee has his own major problems, which often are so tied to his family and economic condition that simply helping him with his claim for a specific benefit does not provide enough help fast enough."

"A sampling of information furnished by discharge records of the military services provides an idea of the problems we face. A recent study of the records of 1,411 Illinois veterans indicates that 375, or about 27 per cent, did not finish high school. Two hundred and thirty of these gave Chicago area addresses."

"It is this group which needs the specific help we will furnish through the one-stop Assistance Center."

The Center is open daily, including Saturdays, from 8 a.m.

Lutheran South Hosp. Speeds Up Fund Drive

"Lutheran South Hospital campaign leaders moved to day to speed up their second phase drive among larger donors from industry, business and foundations in order to rapidly close the $1,925,000 gap needed to bring about the construction start in 1968," according to N.M. Nesset, chairman of the board of trustees.

"By intensifying our second phase drive among donors of larger potential, we will naturally accelerate our first-phase construction program on the new Lutheran South Hospital, near Matteson, on Cicero Av. north of Highway No. 30", Nesset said.

"The principal factor that got our project off the ground in the early days of 1965 was the large pattern of challenging pledges, from firms, organizations and individuals in the advance major gifts range," Nesset added.

"We need now to repeat some of the earlier gifts of major amounts to get our second phase fund-raising campaign into high gear. We refer to the first gifts received of $600,000, $250,000, $100,000 and many stimulating gifts in the areas of $25,000. . . $20,000. . . $15,000. . . $10,000. . . $5,000.

"It will interest every resident of the new Lutheran South Hospital service area to know that we have financial resources of $7,195,000, springing from these sources: federal and state grants $1,035,000; a pending mortgage loan of $4,500,000 and gifts and pledges received to date of $1,660,020.

"In giving an account of our stewardship, we feel justified in pointing out that we were subjected to long delays which were beyond our control and which have increased our building costs 29% above original estimates," Nesset declared.

"Lutheran South Hospital was asked by the Hospital Planning Council for Metropolitan Chicago and other authorities to step aside and delay its plans in order that another hospital in an adjacent area might get underway. This we gladly did, but it cost us a year of our time. The acceleration of the conflict in South Viet Nam imposed both priorities and shortages which were a further source of costly delay; finally, we had to wait longer than anticipated for our State and Federal grants to come through.

"In retrospect, perhaps, all these things may have been for the good because we were able to forge a faithful constituency to which we can naturally turn now for the building of our second phase campaign organization. Steps in this direction are well along and we face the future with confidence and with an abiding faith in the full interest and support of the people in our hospital service area as well as business and industrial firms all over Chicagoland whose employees and their dependents the new $9,000,000 Lutheran South Hospital will serve faithfully and well," Nesset continued.

"In the past week, our architect, Burnham and Hammond of Chicago, took site borings in preparing for the building activity that lies ahead. Since our formal ground-breaking last December, it has become more convincingly evident that our second phase fund-raising goal of $1,925,000 is not only attainable but over-subscribable --- for remember, every dollar we invest beyond the minimum goal will pay for more surgical, medical, obstetric, pediatric and psychiatric beds and services in the great, growing Southwest suburban Area in whose future and destiny Lutheran South Hospital is now a historic and growing fixture," Nesset concluded.

Will Learn At First Hand If Rain In Spain Falls Mainly On The Plain

Nine students and two teachers from Stagg High School are planning to spend six weeks in Spain next summer.

Spanish teacher Miss Ann Kuehn and English teacher Miss Linda Erf will accompany the seven girls and two boys to five weeks of study with the Foreign Language League in Madrid and a sixth week of touring northern Spain. The trip will run from July 11 to August 22.

Students who plan to go are Merilee Korhorn, Karen Kapoun, Maryellen Harris, Linda Moskal, Joanne Armenta, Margie Deitrick, Judy Tracy, Steve Mance, and Dave Ferdinand.

The number of young Americans spending their summers on organized study-tours in Europe is expanding. The Foreign Language League is one of the largest of these international schools. It reported a 1967 summer enrollment of 5200 students from all parts of the U.S. and from Canada. The league is a non-profit organization which designs its study-tour programs to please the student and his pocketbook.

CONTINUOUS COMMUNITY SERVICE SINCE 1920

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

Any suggestion or display of affluence in a funeral service is, in our opinion, in poor taste.

It is our belief that the funeral directors should be as inconspicuous as possible. A funeral service is a religious rite.

The many details involved should be handled quietly, respectfully, and without ostentation. We consider this our duty and responsibility.

Respectfully,

Edith Hirsch

Information On Selective Service

Illinois headquarters of the Selective Service System is issuing materials made up of questions and answers, which, officials hope, will provide the public with some of the information it has been seeking.

This information will be released from time to time, it was said. The first release:

Q.: I began graduate study in law school in September 1967 and am making satisfactory progress. Will I be entitled to continued deferment in II-S for my second year of law next September?

A.: No. Under the advice of the National Security Council on February, 16, 1968, deferment for graduate study was limited to registrants in medicine, dentistry, or an allied medical specialty, or those who had entered the second or subsequent year of graduate study last fall.

Q.: Under what authority does the National Security Council make recommendations on graduate and occupational deferments? Who are members of the Council?

A.: Congress, by law, has directed the National Security Council to advise the Director of Selective Service periodically concerning deferment of needed professional and scientific personnel and those in critical skills and other essential occupations. Members of the Council are, the President, Vice President, Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, and Director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

Q.: Now that the National Security Council has recommended that the lists of essential activities and critical occupations be suspended, is there a change in the authority for granting occupational deferments?

A.: Local draft boards have the continuing responsibility, under law, to use their discretion to grant occupational deferments, in individual cases, based on a showing of essential community need.

Following a meeting with representatives of The American Association of Junior Colleges, The United Business Schools Association, and The American Vocational Association, Lt. General Lewis B. Hershey, the Director of Selective Service, issued the following statement:

"Local boards may continue to consider for Class II-A those registrants who are pursuing a full-time course of study that will not lead to a baccalaureate degree. Boards are authorized to allow such students to complete their programs. Students transferring from one institution to another, whether a two-year or four-year institution, may be considered for II-S or II-A status depending upon the educational programs in which they enroll, provided that they continue to make normal progress, in accordance with regulations, toward completion of their programs."

Wives Aren't Dependents

For income tax purposes, a wife is never a dependent of her husband. The exemption allowed for her is based upon the marital relationship, not on dependency, according to E.C. Coyle, Jr., district director of internal revenue service.

A husband may claim his wife's exemption on his separate return only if she has no gross income and is not the dependent of another taxpayer. Husbands and wives may file joint returns even though one of them has no income.

Mr. Coyle said that if the wife had income in any amount, the husband can claim his wife's exemption only by filing a joint return with her. On a joint return, income and deductions of both husband and wife must be included.

When a wife has income of her own, her Social Security number must be entered on the return. Joint returns must also be signed by both husband and wife.

Failure to enter required Social Security numbers and to sign the return held up the refunds of many taxpayers in the Chicago District last year, Mr. Coyle added.

Homeowners Assoc. Has Guest Speaker

James Peyton
Telephone: 532-1516

The March regular meeting of the Tinley Gardens Homeowners Assoc. was held Tuesday, March 6, at the Arbury Hills School with Berl Needham, assistant township supervisor as guest speaker. His speech was especially well delivered and was very informative regarding what is happening and what might happen in the future in this area. Also after his speech was completed he held a question and answer session which also enlightened the membership on affairs which basically interested them. All in all it was a very good meeting and those of you who did not go missed a great deal. Also some of the business at hand was discussed during the short form meeting which followed but as you all know we have to be out at 10:00 p.m. so some of the business will be carried over till our next regular meeting in April.

The Board of Directors of the T.G.H.A. will meet at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, March 19, at the home of Lou Cerny of Ethyl Lane where some important business will be conducted so lets all be present.

As you all know spring is just around the corner and with it comes the hard work of repairing the winter damage to the house and garage and possibly a coat of paint as well as working in the yard to get it in shape for the long summer fun and parties which you can enjoy on the outside as well as getting rid of a lot of junk that accumulates over the winter. We will have a clean up day this year as we have in the past and even though the date is not set it will probably be in May so get all of your throw away stuff together and be ready to help with our clean up campaign. All male help will be appreciated at this time as the trucks and place to dump them will be free.

Do not forget that the dues for 1968 are due and payable at the April meeting of the Tinley Gardens homeowners assoc.

As I announced last week you can still register to vote. This extension will give each and every one of you who are not registered the opportunity to do so.

A closing thought - The United States was never really big until the states united. Lets show everybody how big Tinley Gardens Can Be.

Farmer's Tax Guide Booklet Available

Farmers can now obtain copies of the 1968 edition of the "Farmer's Tax Guide", Publication No. 225, according to E.C. Coyle, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Illinois.

Featured in this year's booklet is an example of a complete farm return, with all required schedules. It also includes a listing of important federal tax dates to remember.

The booklet, written in non-technical language, contains in chapter four many examples of how farm transactions are treated for Federal Income tax purposes.

Altho primarily written to help farmers prepare their 1967 tax return, the "Guide" is useful as a reference thruout the year.

The booklet is available free of charge from your county agricultural agent or by writing your nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

Seeks Revenue Increase

Homer School District, 33-C, will hold a referendum for a 21 cent increase in the educational tax rate on Saturday, March 16. The polls will open at 12:00 noon and close at 7:00 p.m.

The district is at the maximum permissive rate prescribed by the state, 90 cents. This means that any school may have this rate without any need for referendum. Some area schools have a rate as great as $1.48 it was said. Homer 33-C is asking for $1.11.

The educational tax rate increase is needed to assure quality education by providing the best teachers and necessary equipment in accordance with the expanding enrollment, proponents said. Funds are needed to cover the increase in teacher's salaries, the increase in special education fees, the increased rates of contractual services and the increased costs of instructional materials, equipment, furniture, class room fixtures, library materials, supplies and other administrative needs, it was explained.

Funds also will have to be provided for the kindergarten which is mandatory by 1970, a school spokesman declared. Due to the growth in enrollment more busses will be needed soon, the spokesman added.

"The tax increase is needed to avoid deficit spending with interest costs which mount rapidly costing the taxpayer more in the long run," the spokesman said.

GOP Recorder Seeks Party Nomination

Kenneth L. George, Will County Recorder of Deeds, has announced his intentions to seek the Republican nomination for the Recorder's Office in the June primary elections.

George, who is a Republican precinct committeeman in Jackson Township, will submit his name for consideration by Precinct Committeemen at the Republican County Endorsement Conference scheduled for Feb. 17. The Will County Board of Supervisors appointed George as County Recorder of Deeds in August of 1966 to fill a vacancy in that office.

"As our county grows,"

George stated, "the responsibility of government grows. We who are officeholders must gear our thinking to the future of Will County."

"When I took office, I pledged ed that nothing but the best of service would be permitted in my department," George continued. "I have been fortunate to have had a competent and efficient staff of dedicated women working with me to help me in fulfilling this pledge."

Within a few months after taking office George instituted the process of micro-filming in the recorder's office. "The purpose of micro-filming is three fold," George indicated. "First, it cuts the cost of reproduction by 90%. Second, it saves greatly on precious storage space and third, it makes possible the storage of a duplicate set of records in the Archives in Springfield."

Since George took office, the Recorder's Office has made full use of the county's Central Services making it possible to reduce the cost of processing all documents and enabling the Recorder to return these documents to their rightful owners more expeditiously.

"During my tenure," George stated, "I have been able to earn more than $78,000 for the county. This money has been turned over to the County Offices Fund as excess earnings."

The 43 year old county recorder served as the first chairman of the Will County Merit Commission after the Merit system was initiated in the Sheriff's Department. He was elected mayor of Elwood in 1961 and held that post until 1965.

George is a member of the Illinois County Officials Association, the Association of County Clerks and Recorders, the Will County Historical Society, the Elwood Lions, Elwood Volunteer Fire Department and Matesson Lodge No. 175, A.F.A.M.

He is a veteran of World War II having served in both the South Pacific and European Theaters. Prior to taking office, George worked in the Sales Division of Stolz-Wick, wholesale distributor of electronic parts.

He and his wife, the former Lois Koenig of Joliet, are members of the First Lutheran Church in Joliet. The Georges reside in Elwood with their daughters, Linda, age 20, and Donna, age 14.

Kite Fliers! Don't Imitate Franklin

With spring officially just around the corner, C. C. Allen, superintendent of Commonwealth Edison Company's Joliet district, has his eye to the sky.

Allen urges kite enthusiasts who will be out in force with the gusty winds of March to follow five basic rules to have fun safely:

1. Use only ordinary kite string; don't substitute wire or metallic cord.
2. Never attach metal or tinsel to any part of the kite.
3. Fly kites in unobstructed areas where traffic is light and trees and utility lines can be avoided.

4. Never fly kites during storms or when the string is wet.

5. Don't put yourself out on a limb by trying to retrieve a tangled kite. If your kite becomes snagged and you can't tug it free, abandon it rather than risk injury by climbing a pole or tree, or entering a hazardous area.

"The basic rule, of course, is to use common sense," Allen said, "and to keep your kite in the air and your feet on the ground."

Spring is just around the corner so many home owners will soon be visiting nurseries and garden centers to purchase plants for their landscape. Many of the plants they see will have attractive flowers, foliage, twig characteristics, and unusual growth habits. But, will they suit your landscape needs?

Selecting a plant should not be based on impulse buying at the time of purchase. The plant should fit into your primary landscape design. There are several things that you should have in mind before you go to the nursery.

Consider, for example, the shape of your plant. The natural form or shape of a plant is determined by its branching structure, habit of growth and age. Many plants have a different appearance at various periods in their life. Pines have two forms, compact and conical when young, broad and less sharp in outline when mature. Picture in your mind how the plant will look at maturity. In general, plants which are vase shaped, spreading, rounded or weeping are best used around the home. Pyramidal or conical shaped plants often accent harsh structural lines and are better used for background or near property boundaries. Spruce are good examples of evergreens that should be used for this purpose.

Plants have texture too. Texture, like form, has endless variations. It depends on foliage branching structure, flower, fruit, bark and twigs. The foliage is, of course, the most predominant element in plants. We can see many variations in foliage textures ranging from the large, coarse Catalpa trees to the medium texture of American Elm, and the fine texture of a lacy Honey Locust.

Often space around the home can be made to appear large or small depending upon the textural qualities of the plant placed in the landscape. A small space will appear larger if fine textured plants are used. When plants are placed near to each other textural changes should be gradual. Move by steps from the coarsest texture in the composition to those with the finest composition. To accomplish this each plant should have about one-half the leaf size of the plant which precedes it.

Color is a factor in selecting your plants too. It's one of the most difficult to use, yet one of the most spectacular factors of landscape plants is color. There are wide variations in color among plants not only from the seasonal factors of foliage flower and fruit but also inherent factors such as the bark, twigs and branches. Distance perception may influence your selection of flowering plants. Warm Colors such as red, orange, yellow, violet, are known to advance or diminish apparent distance and make a space appear smaller. Cool colors such as blue, green and purple, will have the reverse effect on perception.
